

Start Using PRMS to its Full Extent

with Datanational Consulting and Training

Implement functions and features more efficiently and support the changing needs of your company with Datanational's Consulting and Training for PRMS.

IT Solutions for Business
Your leading provider for Enterprise Software Solutions

PRMS Consulting and Training

Re-engineering the Business Process

How long has it been since you have evaluated the operation and system flow of your company? As business requirements change, we can identify your current process and improve your utilization of the system. We can teach best practices and document the standard operating procedures which assist in ISO certification and the Sarbanes-Oxley compliance.

Customized Education

Our customized education is specifically tailored to your requirements rather than a generic standard course, which would contain all features and functions about the particular subject. For example, we might determine what features you utilize most and deliver the education in that manner, saving you time and money. Datanational can deliver education on all modules within PRMS, including financials, distribution, manufacturing and technical.

Specialized Fast-Path PRMS Implementations

Typical PRMS implementations can last many months or as long as a year. Most PRMS implementations these days are driven by corporate acquisitions or business expansions into new locations or markets. These implementations require a streamlined fast-path approach to get the operation running quickly with the PRMS core functions.

With Datanational's experienced team of implementation specialists, we can accomplish this in a much shorter period of time. Often times, the implementation of many of the new features and functions can be deployed after the implementation of core required functions. Many times, there are steps that can be omitted without compromising the integrity or success of a project. Our approach will accelerate the implementation process and increase your productivity and effectiveness.

The Datanational Advantage

Datanational has over thirty years of experience in the computer systems industry, delivering expertise, creativity, vision and innovative business solutions to companies throughout North America. We have worked hands-on with PRMS for nearly 20 years. We will provide a cohesive team of professionals, dedicated to developing long-term relationships through flexible and adaptable services. Datanational is a diverse and dynamic technology company concentrating on supporting your PRMS project needs.

Project Management

With Datanational's proven implementation methodology, we can provide project management for any of your needs. Proper project management ensures that deadlines are met and overall implementation costs are optimized. Our approach will maximize your investment and increase your productivity.

PRMS Net Change

Our customized training and education program will cover net change from your current release of PRMS, to the latest version. Our efforts will be tailored to your specific requirements, including customized training documentation, classroom training, hands-on system interaction, and any other user education requirements. With our training and education program, you will be better prepared to take advantage of the new software functionality and re-evaluate your existing system utilization.

IT Solutions for Business

Your leading provider for Enterprise Software Solutions

