Connect Now... With eConnect

This solution is likely the easiest win to get eBusiness up and running quickly, and immediately contributing to your bottom line. There is a significant financial justification, as phone and fax orders and shipment inquiries are very labor intensive transactions.

It is more important than ever to deliver superior customer service at a reduced cost. In order to maintain your competitive edge, you need to accommodate your customers, trading partners, sales representatives and customer service in today's 24/7 marketplace. Automating your customer transactions and providing these functions during a wider range of hours increases top line revenue and decreases labor costs.
